Labor Incident To A Borough Artery Of Commerce Formally Begins

ACTUAL WORK ON HIGHWAY STARTED

Labor Incident to the Construction of the Maple Creek Road From Lincoln Avenue Extension to Colvin Hill, Formally Begins

GRADING DONE SEPT. 1

Laying of Concrete Will Commence At Conclusion of Grading—Will Take 35 Working Days to Run the Concrete—Not Many Changes in Grade

Actual work on the construction of the Maple Creek road from the end of Lincoln Avenue extension to the foot of Colvin's hill, has begun. The H. P. Streicher Company, Inc., of Toledo, Ohio, has a number of men working at the intersection of the Bentleyville and Monongahela road, placing the large concrete pipe for drainage.

I. R. Burt, representing the Streicher company, is in Charleroi and will remain here until the grading and preliminary work is completed. An office is being constructed in Lincoln Avenue extension, and warehouses will also be erected at this point to house the material to be used in constructing the road. Road building equipment is arriving and will be unloaded from this point.

In conversation with Mr. Burt this morning he stated that it was the desire of the company to have all the grading on this piece of highway finished before September 1, when the actual laying of concrete will commence. Unless something unforeseen happens, it will take approximately 35 working days to run the concrete. It is hoped to have the road ready for use before wet weather sets in.

There will not be many changes in the grade of the present road, although a number of bad curves will be eliminated to a certain extent. The highway will be 18 feet wide at all points with the curves banked and widened.

It was at first thought that it would not be necessary to close this road until time to run the cement, but upon investigation it was found that this will not be possible. Certain drainage pipes have to be replaced and lengthened, and in order to do this traffic will have to be stopped. While practically no grading is to be done this side of the twin bridges there is one drainage pipe at the Rodgers school house that will have to be replaced.

STORE ROBBERY IS STILL A MYSTERY

There are no developments in the Donahoe Grocery store robbery as mentioned in yesterday's issue of the Mail. Investigations on the part of the police department and the heads of the establishment are in progress, but nothing definite has been established. The amount stolen between closing time Saturday night and the opening of the store on Monday morning, was $324.02.

The fact that the money, taken from the safe, which was opened and relocked, leads the chief of police to believe that the affair was an inside job. The combination of the safe was known to three employees of the establishment.

Volunteer Workers Being Secured Fast For Hospital Drive

HORSES SCARED DASH INTO AND DAMAGE AN AUTO

Frightened by a large truck passing them within a short distance, the large grey horses of the Charleroi Lumber company yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock while standing within the grounds of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, made a wild dash across the length of the grounds, damaging the wagon to which they were hitched and a Chevrolet car parked within the grounds.

Taylor Ghrist, driver of the team, had left the horses for a few minutes while he entered the freight station, and during the short time they were left alone, the horses took fright. Ghrist, upon coming out of the station made after the horses and brought them to a standstill just before they plunged headlong into the box cars.

ANENT THE GIVING OF ROAD CONTRACT

Anent the awarding of the contract for road construction in this county to Thomas Arrigo of this place at the low bid of $88,292.05 by the State Highway department, it may be said for the information of readers of the Mail that this is a section of the old Pittsburgh pike, known as Route No. 498. The section to be constructed begins at the Canonsburg borough line and extends 7,358 feet, or 1.37 miles, to the bridge over the railroad near Morgantown. This bridge will be replaced, and will be of concrete. This road will be of reinforced concrete, probably 18 feet wide, as this is a main route.

The section of county road from the McClane Crossing, just north of the Country Club, to the old Pittsburgh pike at Meadowslands, which has been under construction for several months, was completed yesterday, and it is estimated that about 10,000 automobiles passed over it. This is now one of the finest sections of highways in the state.

The old concrete road was widened to not less than 18 feet, and on curves was reduced, and dangerous curves have been made 40 feet wide. The three bridges were also widened so that there is no excuse for an accident due to collision on curves or bridges. New concrete was laid where

"TUZ" MATHIAS GETS HONORABLE MENTION

Jack "Tuz" Mathias, son of Mr and Mrs. J. W. Mathias of 516 Washington avenue, has been given honorable mention in the Red Infantry course at the Citizen's Military Training Camp at Camp Meade by Brigadier General Harold B. Fiske, commanding general of the camp. Among the 14 Pennsylvanians in camp there were two western Pennsylvanians given honorable mention, "Tuz" being one of them.

MEN HOPE TO FIND WEALTH OF DEAD BUCCANEER

Pittsburgh, July 29.—Men still dream of fabulous wealth buried in the soil or ocean bed by some long-time dead buccaneer.

Members of Sam Gerson's family, looked out of the window into their back yard one morning and an excavation five feet deep greeted their astonished eyes.

Of course, the police were notified, and it appears that sometime during the night some one dug this ditch, but whether any treasure was found has never been learned.

Police think not, although Gerson is inclined to be worried about it because he feels if there was any treasure located, he ought to share in it.

Davis Ready For Strenuous Trust He Can Win

Dark Harbor, Maine, July 29.—His acceptance speech virtually completed, John W. Davis, Democratic presidential nominee, packed his bags to-day for his trip to New York.

No callers were scheduled to visit the nominee on 700 Acre Island to-day. Davis planned to play golf this afternoon and will dine quietly with friends tonight.

Tomorrow he will attend a reception to be tendered him in Rockland, by the Knox County Democratic committee. He will leave for New York at 6:25 p. m., arriving about 10 o'clock Thursday morning. He previously had planned to delay his departure from Rockland until Thursday.

The Democratic candidate is tanned and hardy, and said today he feels in excellent health. He is anxious to get to New York to confer with Clem Shaver, new Democratic National chairman, on the progress of organization of the campaign.

There is also a persistent rumor that Davis will confer with Governor Smith in New York this week and urge him to be a candidate for reelection. The governor certainly would poll a tremendous vote in New York state, and his candidacy would be a great pulling point for the national candidates.

STOCKDALE MAN AMONG DEAD

Edward W. Spence, aged 65 died at his home in Stockdale Friday evening of heart trouble. Funeral services were held at the late home in Stockdale Sunday afternoon, with burial in the Monongahela cemetery.

Mr. Spence was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spence and was born at Shadyside, Belmont county, Ohio, April 27, 1859. When a young man he came to this section of country, with his parents and settled at Black Diamond. He was a coal miner for 35 years and has been engaged as a fire boss in many surrounding mines. When the Black Diamond band, later the G. A. R. band, was organized Mr. Spence was chosen the leader. He was married to Miss Mary Ochrane and to this union five children were born, all of whom survive. Three brothers, John R. Spence, of Monongahela, William Spence of Lock No. 4; Jas. Spence of Stewartville, O., and 19 grandchildren also survive.

Mr. Spence moved to Stockdale in 1904, where he became one of the leading citizens of that borough, having served as a member of the school board and council.

THREE LOCK 4 MEN ARRESTED

James Kirkwood, Ed. H. Bertoville and G. Bertoville, the latter two brothers, became involved in a fight at Fifth street and McKean avenue yesterday afternoon, their arrests being made by Officer George W. Corey.

The trio will have hearings this evening before Burgess J. Bryant Tussing on charges of disorderly conduct. They left forfeits of $10 each for their appearance.

Accidents Is Cause Of The Officer's Visit

Highway Patrolman Robert F. Rupert, in charge of the State Patrol in this county, spent yesterday surveying the traffic situation in Monongahela.

Following a number of accidents, the majority of which were avoidable, Patrolman Rupert, with another officer of the patrol, expects to get busy on the Monongahela-Donora pike owing to excessive speeding and reckless driving which is noticeable on this much traveled road. During July a number of accidents have occurred on the pike and although no fatalities occurred a number of persons have been injured. On Saturday evening three touring cars figured in a smashup while traveling at a fast rate of speed. No one was badly injured although each of the machines was put out of commission.

The next examination for driver's license will be held on Friday, August 1. All vehicles appearing on this date must be fully equipped with approved bulbs and lens in accordance with state regulations. The license plates must be properly attached with bolts and a licensed operator must accompany each candidate. All cars must face east on the right side of Main street from the City building to Eighth street, Monongahela and they will be taken in regular order. All drivers with cars not equipped with the law specified will not be given the examination.

Allied Conferees Tackle Financial, Economic, Military, Before Immediate Questions

London, July 29.—The Allied conferees today tackled important financial, economic, and military problems rather than immediate questions strictly associated with putting into effect the experts' reparations plan.

French bankers arrived from Paris and were understood to have brought up the question of inter-allied debts. The French were reportedly anxious to know whether Britain's future policy contemplates a request for payment from France after an international loan has been floated for Germany.

A relatively small amount of this loan will be raised in France, the bankers said, because France is not concerned with Germany's industrial revival, believing Germany will recover rapidly enough without allied assistance.

With such diversified discussions as these in sight, after it had been promised that the delegates would stick closely to consideration of the Dawes-McKenna reports, observers shrugged their shoulders and estimated the conference may now last for several weeks.

The "big five"—the allied premiers, Ambassador Kellogg and Count De Stefani—met this morning, while the first and third committees will not meet until tomorrow.

It was Colonel James A. Logan, Jr., American delegate, who saved the first committee and probably the entire conference from danger of going completely to smash yesterday.

The French and British were in a heated wrangle on the subject of penalties to be paid by Germany in case of default, when Logan intervened, with four propositions:

- 1.—He declared that the United States had no objection to private American participation in the reparations commission when the experts' plan should be formally declared operative;
- 2.—He stated that the American bankers are interested in the purely business aspects of the experts' plan;
- 3.—Logan suggested that the Germans, reparations commissioners and bankers get together and discuss the question of penalties;
- 4.—He proposed immediate adjournment to consider his suggestions.

The intervention, a desperate attempt to change the subject and prevent a crisis, succeeded. The wrangling ceased; the meeting adjourned, and everyone started discussing Logan's plan.

SLOVAK DAY IS TO BE CELEBRATED

FORMER JURIST IS DYING OF HURTS

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 29.—George Shiras, who is 92 years old, has been confined to the hospital since June 15, when he slipped on a rug in his home and fell to the floor, fracturing his leg. His condition grew worse in the last few days from weakness caused by age.

Shiras was appointed to the Supreme court by President Harrison in 1892, and served until February, 1903.

The United States Supreme court, is dying in a hospital here today from a fractured right leg and weakness due to old age.

NURSE'S LOVE FOR CHILD CAUSE OF KIDNAPING HER

Cleveland, July 29.—A nationwide hunt was instituted by police here today for 5-year-old Dorothy May Blanchard, and Mrs. L. Woods, 55, a nurse, charged with kidnapping the child.

A strong maternal instinct dammed up through unrequited passion for a child, led the nurse to kidnap her charge, police believe.

SENATOR LODGE WELL ON WAY TO RECOVERY

Cambridge, Mass., July 29.—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge Republican leader in the Senate, "is well on his way to recovery," Dr. John H. Cunningham, attending physician said today.

Lodge was operated on for an obstruction of the bladder Sunday and for a time fears were entertained for his recovery.

A second operation will be necessary however, Cunningham said, and the date will be announced in a few days.

BOY KILLED BY FALL FROM POLE

DIRECTORY OF THE SIXTIES IS UNCOVERED

Wilkes-Barre, July 29.—The earliest publication of a business directory in the northern part of the state was recently uncovered by Mrs. John M. Phillips. It is the "Northeastern Counties Business Directory of 1861 and 1862." The book has 115 pages and contains a classified list of all business men in Wayne, Wyoming and Susquehanna counties. At that time Lackawanna was part of Luzerne county.

WILL USE FREIGHT CARS LUMBER FOR HOUSES

Hazleton, July 29.—The Lehigh Valley Railroad has inaugurated the custom of giving its condemned freight cars to its employees. About fifty such cars were turned over recently to be dismantled for the lumber in them. The men will use the heavy lumber for house and garage building.

Picnic At Kenwood Park On July 31, At Which It Is Expected That Slovak Catholics Will Very Largely Attend

BIG PROGRAM IS PLANNED

Addresses By Bishop Hugh C. Boyle, Hon. William Magee, Mayor of Pittsburgh, Senator John Harris, And Others — Sports of All Kinds

Slovak day will be celebrated with a picnic at Kenwood park to be held Thursday, July 31, and a very large number of the members of St. Cyril and Methodus church, Tenth street, are expected to join in the fun. The Slovak Catholics of Western Pennsylvania, under whose auspices the picnic is being held, will attend in large numbers. It is expected. This will be the first attempt of the Slovaks in this part of the state to join in one large outing.

A notable program has been arranged and the following is a summary of what is being planned to take place during the day:

Addresses will be given by the following famous men: Rt. Rev. Hugh C. Boyle of Pittsburgh; William Magee, mayor of Pittsburgh; Senator John Harris, Rep. Andrew Pavlis of Shippensburg, Pa., President of the Slovak Catholic Federation of America; John Bielek, president of the Slovak League of America, and Joseph Hirssek, editor of "Jednota."

Sports for young and old will be in line and prizes will be given the winners. A baseball game will be played between St. Joachim's Parish of Frankstown, Pittsburgh, and St. Michael's Sokols of Homestead. Dancing all day, including Slovak folk dancing in Slovak costumes, will be an added feature. A prize will be given the couple wearing the most beautiful costumes, also to the couple who exemplifies the Slovak dance to the best and most graceful manner.

A choir consisting of approximately one hundred mixed voices under the direction of Rev. Udalric Neid of New Castle will render a program largely consisting of Slovak folk songs.

A special train has been chartered to accommodate the large numbers from the up-river towns of the Monongahela valley, due at Charleroi at 9:55 a. m. Special ticket rates will be in a round trip for adults, 75 cents and for children, 40 cents.

BOY KILLED BY FALL FROM POLE

Jules Egbert, Jr., 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jules Egbert of Southview, near Hickory, climbed a high tension pole of a line of the Montour No. 1 Coal company Saturday evening and as he neared the top of the derrick-shaped structure, with a foot on each side, a circuit was formed. This threw the switch of at the West Penn Power station at McDonald at 7:15 p. m. The line carried 22,000 volts. The boy's clothes were burned off and he dropped to the ground, a distance of about 45 feet.

A boy companion, who was with the unfortunate lad, gave the alarm. An automobile was called and a hurried trip made to the Canonsburg General hospital. The hospital was reached at 8:30 and everything was done to save the boy's life, but he died at 9:45 p. m. Besides his parents these are three other children in the Egbert family.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

"When Jim Comes To Town, Means Something," Says William Peet

William Peet, sporting editor of the Pittsburgh Post, in this morning's issue, says:

"Big Jim Buchanan of Charleroi does not come to town often, but when he does, it usually means something."

"Jim says that the Charleroi Elks are going to revive boxing and that they will stage their first show on Thursday night with Young Saylor, a Charleroi boy, and Dick Conlon, of Altoona, in the main bout."

for he is a newcomer, but Charleroi has turned out some cooking good boxers in times past. Cuddy DeMarco right now is one of the best in his class, while those of us who have followed the game have not forgotten Eddie Finchot and Young Carmen, both tough birds."

"Anything Jim Buchanan starts, he usually finishes. He is a brawler. Charleroi has produced some fine boxers, and there is no reason why Young Saylor should turn out to be a bloomer."

MITCHELL TURNS UP FOR FIGHT WITH BAD HAND

The 10-round bout between Sid Terrise, of New York, and Ray Mitchell, of Philadelphia, scheduled for last night in New York, was called off when Mitchell said he had a broken hand.

The 10-round semi-final between Tommy O'Bryan and Joe Welling of Chicago, and the 10-round preliminary between Joey Selvers and Cuddy DeMarco, also, were called off.

Western Mustangs

The ponies of the western states are mustangs, and the word is used in the present time have been crossed more or less with the American trotter, the thoroughbred, or the Arabian horses. These still are known as "broccos," although in recent years they have been more commonly termed cow ponies and are used exclusively in herding.

Why He Looked Tired

The head of a large business house noticed that one of his clerks had been looking off color for some months, and one morning, when he was looking rather paler than usual, he tackled him on the subject.

"You look tired this morning, Jones," he said kindly. "Don't you sleep well?"

"No, sir," was the reply. "The fellow I share a room with and I suffer from alternate insomnia."

"Alternate insomnia? What is that?"

"Whoever gets to sleep first keeps the other awake all night!"

Remarkable Mines

Among the most extraordinary mines in the world are those at Bibing and Coleraine, in Minnesota. There are to be found the only open mouthed iron mines to be seen anywhere. The iron ore is so close to the surface that all the railroad had to do was to lay tracks and back in, and haul out whatever ore it pleased. It is unusual to find metals or other valuables of nature close to the surface. The diamond and ruby mines furnish exceptions. The common minerals are often buried deepest

WITH A COUNTRY CLUB PLAYING THE GOLF GAME

The Monongahela Valley Country club are in the height of their golf season and much interest is being evinced in the various matches. On the afternoon of Wednesday, July 30, there will be played the Pleasant Valley Country club dinner match. The club championship will be under way from July 31 and August 1 in a 18-hole qualifying round. Four flights will be run, sixteen to each flight. Three rounds of 18 holes each or 54 holes must be played on or before August 27. Special notice is called to the fact that the four lowest scores of each flight at the 54th holes will finish the last 18 holes in a foursome on September 1. Sixteen lowest handicap members will be matched later to play the 1924 Match Play, a cup to the winner.

Junior championship is now under way, which started July 24, and will be finished August 9, playing 54 holes.

CROOKSTON IS TO PLAY TODAY AT NEMACOLIN

J. W. Crookston, 1924 amateur champion of Pennsylvania and C. J. Casper, Jr., amateur champion of Maryland in 1923 two widely known players, will play an invitation match over the Nemacolin club course, near Beallsville, this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Warren S. Burchinal and "Bucky" Buchanan of the Nemacolin club, have been selected as their opponents.

The match considering the prominence of the visitors is expected to attract an unusually large gallery.

Love of Flowers

Rude sketches of flowers appear in prehistoric caves, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Flowers have been rhymed over by painter, musician, poet and prose writer from the days when the first glimmerings of intelligence and therefore of beauty, were beginning to penetrate the thick skulls of our ancestors. And that great love has been carried down the corridors of the centuries.

Early these flaming masses of nature's loveliness were transplanted from the sunny meadow and the shadow of woodland to the gardens of men. Men and women wanted them before their eyes without taking the trouble to go far from their homes. Kings and queens filled their palaces with flowers. And that great love has been carried down the corridors of the centuries.

Many Flying Animals

In Australia there are at least twenty species of animals which are aviators. Among them are flying squirrels, flying opossums, flying mice and even flying bears.

The name which applies to them all is "patanger." This means that they have, extending from the front to the hind legs, a membrane which enables them to float in quite a graceful way from tree to tree. They are not really flying animals, but gliders.

The flying squirrel is said to be the most beautiful mammal in the world. It is said that in the land where many animals fly, birds often cannot fly at all. Both the bird and the mammal are particularly wary, and live to depend upon their long and strong legs to escape from their enemies.

PIRATES GET BREAKS AND SCORE ANOTHER VICTORY OVER BRAVES

Emil Yde added to his laurels yesterday by pitching the Pirates to their fourth straight victory. The sturdy southpaw held the enemy to seven swats, all but two of which were scattered. The Braves were downed 5 to 2 and it was three spills in a row for them at the hands of Bill McKechnie's boys. As the Reds came out on top in their clash at Brooklyn, Pittsburgh's hold on third place was considerably tightened. It was Yde's seventh consecutive victory.

Jim Yeargin was in the box for the home side and he got along effectively for four chapters, but in the fifth the bacan was cornered by the Braves. Two of these wallops were triples.

The deciding tally was slipped across on a perfectly executed squeeze play, Grumm racing through the stretch and the bunt being splashed into the grass by Earl Smith who was proven poison to his former mates in all three events of the series.

ORE SMUGGLING IS VIRTUALLY STOPPED

Buyers Must Try to Learn Source of Metal.

Denver.—The game of "highgrading" which has been an annoyance to the mining of precious metals throughout the world, has been virtually stopped in Colorado mining camps during the last nine years as a result of the efforts of special agents working under the direction of the secretary of state in enforcing the Ore Buyers' act passed by the Colorado assembly in 1915.

The term "highgrading" came from the practice originating in the theft and sale of high grade metal ores by miners and the subsequent conversion of the ores into gold and silver bullion for sale to the United States mines Colorado mine owners had tried in every conceivable way to put a stop to the practice, but apparently without success, according to their reports to the authorities.

Change Rooms Installed. Some mines operating with extremely valuable veins installed "change rooms" where workmen were required to change clothing on entering and leaving the mine but even this scheme was said not to have been entirely effective as the certain small percentage of dishonest miners managed to find some way to smuggle ore outside.

The Ore Buyers' act, passed after a bitter struggle between the Mine Owners' association and alleged "highgrading" interests, provides that buyers of precious metals must be licensed by the state and must post a bond of $5,000 for the faithful observance of the act. The law requires such a buyer to make a diligent effort to learn where the vendor acquired his ore and with what authority he is selling it.

Penalty for Falsifying. Giving false information to a buyer is made a punishable offense. In this way the special agents have been able to check the activities of unauthorized sellers. The virtual bottling up of the illicit market is said to have had the effect of stopping almost entirely the surreptitious removal of ore.

Since the law was adopted the number of licensed ore buyers in the state has decreased from 32 to 7. Definite enforcement of the statute dates from 1917, when eight of twelve alleged "highgraders" were given prison sentences of two years each. At the trial more than a score of miners testified that they had sold ores to the accused men.

The successful operation of the Colorado law has brought about the passage of similar laws in other western states.

Broke in Argentina, He Scrubs Way Home

New York.—Benjamin D. Short, jolly 220-pounder, his palms calloused from massaging the decks of a liner during his voyage from Buenos Aires, smiled jovially as he helped lower the gangplank on which his wife, Mrs. Alice K. Short, and other passengers disembarked here.

"The long and short of it is," said Mr. Short, unable to repress a smile, "that the Shorts were short of cash, so I came up as one of the crew and Mrs. Short ate her way up. I'm not afraid of work, and, besides, I was—was—too fat."

Mr. Short is an employee of the Buenos Aires office of the Standard Oil company and returned there only a few months ago after a visit to his parents in St. Louis, which took most of his spare cash. Soon after his return his mother and father died—within a month of each other—and he had to return to settle their estate.

Although he cabled his attorney in St. Louis for a $1,000 advance, he was told he would have to appear personally to collect, so he became an able-bodied seaman.

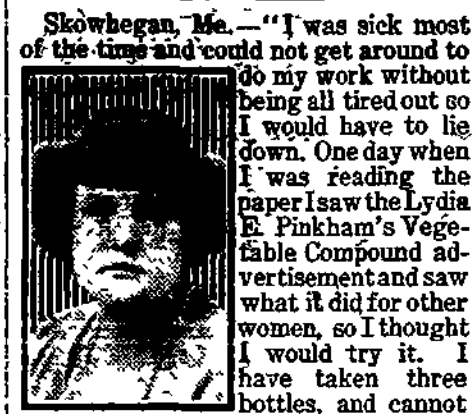

Bulgarian Swallow Brings Back Message From India

Sofia.—Two swallows of the spring have brought replies to messages they carried when they flitted for warmer climes last autumn. Ivan Stefanoff, a school teacher of a nearby village, wrote a message in French reading "Greetings from wronged and unhappy Bulgaria," and fastened it under the wing of a swallow that nested in the eaves of his house. When the birds returned recently, he noticed the message wrapped on its leg and capturing it he found the following written in English: "Good times will come for us, the wronged and ill-treated of the city of Melani, India, Feb. 13."

Another experimenter received a more romantic reply to a message similarly dispatched. He is an official in Haskovo and his swallow brought him the following from Medina, Arabia: "We beautiful daughters of Mohammed sigh for endearing words and caresses. Ghul Fatme, wife of Hassan Bey."

Give Credit to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Other Women Will Benefit by Her Experience

Skowhegan, Me.—"I was sick most of the time and could not get around to do my work without being all tired out so I would have to lie down. One day when I was reading the paper I saw the Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertisement and saw what it did for other women, so I thought I would try it. I have taken three bottles, and cannot begin to tell you what it has already done for me. I do all my work now and keep up the whole day long without lying down. I have no more headaches nor tired feelings. It Might Be Yours!

A word of warning to you—the mother of the dearest baby in the world! A word to you, Mr. Father—unless you hate your baby and hate your wife!

Is your baby immune from sickness or getting hurt? No! Well then, what are you going to do if baby gets sick—and gets so sick that the doctor says, "It must be taken to the hospital." Or if it gets hurt and must have the best treatment this minute!

Suppose an automobile strikes your baby while it is playing today and seriously injures it. You cannot take your time about getting it cared for as you would take time to solve a business problem. It may be a question of life or death, and immediate care and a hospital may be necessary.

Let's hope that your baby never gets hurt or never gets sick; but if it does, you want your family doctor to give it the best medical attention that he can and you want it to have the most expert trained hospital servants that you can afford, to be sure its life is safe!

That's right, isn't it?

That is how we feel about our babies and we cannot understand how you or anyone else can feel otherwise about their babies.

When you are tired and anxious as you sit beside the baby's crib in the deadly heat of the city wondering what the end is going to be—whether it is going to mean recovery or death—then is the time you will appreciate the sincerity and wisdom of our claim that this community has no greater present need than this new hospital. And to get a new hospital your subscription is needed!

What is needed is a new and modern fireproof hospital, equipped with modern operating rooms and other departments so that when the problem is presented to the doctors of saving a life, they will be in a position to give the best care possible for humans to render.

This community is now in the midst of raising the money with which to erect such a hospital. When the time comes for subscribing you will be given an opportunity to do your part. Think it over. Be ready! It's a matter of—

Dollars or Lives?

REPORTS ENCOURAGING.

Reports from the workers in the campaign for the new Charleroi-Monessen hospital building are encouraging. One of the workers said yesterday that nearly everybody is "coming clean," which speaks volumes for whole-heartedness and philanthropic, patriotic motives on the part of the people of the borough and the territory which the new institution will benefit.

The worker in question said that it is practically assured that the money will be raised: the only thing confronting the people is "how much can they afford to put over the top."

With labor conditions as they are here it is splendid compliment to our people that they will arise to the emergency. How easy of acquiescence would be the labor of raising funds, if working conditions were as they were last year, or during the war times?

People understanding the conditions impel them to subscribe for a public necessity. They are putting aside any personal prejudices that they may have had, unitedly coming to the front, being willing to sacrifice personal interests that an institution such as will properly subserve the demands of a hospital, be secured here. The campaign, utterly devoid of selfishness, is bringing forth the best that is in human nature, locally applied, dispelling the belief and charge held by some that this community is populated by many selfish people. The fact that the inhabitants of Charleroi and community are "all for one" when it comes for human betterment, for the salvation of lives, finds confirmation in the manner in which they are subscribing toward the new hospital project.

Two years ago, speaking as Vice-President, Mr. Coolidge said before the merican Bar Association: "There exists, and must always exist, the righteous authority of the State. That is the sole purpose of the liberty of the individual. But it does not mean an inquisitive and officious intermeddling by attempted government action in all the affairs of the people. There is no justification for public interference with purely private concerns." About a month ago, speaking as President, Mr. Coolidge expressed himself as follows: "As civilization becomes more complex it is necessary to surrender more and more of the freedom of action and live more and more according to the rule of public regulation, but it is also true that the rewards and privileges which come to a member of organized society increase in a still greater proportion." Of these two interesting utterances, with a seemingly contrary aim behind them, many will regard the first as more in harmony with time-honored American tradition and basic American principle.

The soccer players from the little South American republic of Uruguay—the "Purple Land" of W. H. Hudson—are the champions of the world, the best of 22 teams competing in the Olympic games at Paris. Think of their beating all the "Nordics" from Great Britain, the United States and elsewhere! And soccer is a strenuous game, too.

We read that juniors and senators in the University of California are rated by teachers and students as to character, address, appearance, leadership, disposition, popularity, speed in work accuracy and attention to detail. Such a complete "rating up" usually includes scholarship—to say nothing of the record in athletics.

Since their arrest for kidnapping and murder, Leopold and Loeb are said to have received more than 400 love letters from young girls. The police ought to notify all of the parents of these girls that their sense and resolution enough to spank depravity out of their offspring.

Seven Men Are Lifted by Magnet. One Hanging Head Downward

An industrial type of electromagnet used for separating metallic substances from other materials, seven men, totaling 1150 pounds in weight, were suspended from it and lifted clear of the ground. The magnet was hoisted in a rope slung about eight feet from the floor and a metal bar was placed in contact with it. When a current of 220 volts was applied, seven men grasped the bar and were lifted clear of the ground. A seventh man, into whose shoes had been placed thin metal plates, was hoisted up and held head downward.

Bugs, Not Cold, Take Birds to Southern Climes

Scarcity of insects, owing to the approach of winter, and not cold weather, causes birds to start south when the frosts arrive, according to a western scientist. Seed or fish-eating fowl, unaffected by the lack of bugs, survive all year as far north as the Arctic Circle. While migrations are largely determined by the food supply, it is believed that habits inherited from the glacial ages partly influence some species. The tern makes a continuous 11,000-mile flight between the polar regions of the north and south, while the golden plover, which spends its summers in the Arctic and its winters in South America, goes first to Nova Scotia as it starts southward, then flies 2,400 miles to Brazil.

Fighting Rooster Fish Is Caught off the Mexican Coast

Rarely caught, and then only after a terrific battle, the rooster fish is described by sportsmen who have encountered it as one of the most beautiful and finest game fish to be found anywhere. Because it roams only in the waters off the west coast of Mexico and South America, it is not known to most fishermen. Many expert anglers in the resorts of Lower California have reported the loss of their tackle after a struggle with this fish, so-called because of the grotesque appearance given it by a long fin on the back.

Shoe Protector for the Youngsters

It is a common experience that boys constantly using their coaster wagons wear out the sole of the shoe much faster than the other one, owing to the manner in which the wagon is propelled and braked. Three pairs of shoes and sometimes more are often worn out in this way in one season. A good method of preventing the shoe from such quick wear is to protect it by means of an extra sole, made of thick leather and strapped on as shown, the straps being riveted to the extra sole. Two straps are most convenient to use for this purpose, one for the heel and the other for the toe.

Finishing Radio Panels

Radio panels which are usually made of a highly polished surface but it is sometimes desirable to have a dull satin finish instead. Such a surface may be obtained by sanding the panel down with a piece of No. 0000 sandpaper, attached to a block padded with a piece of felt or similar material. The block should be about 3 or 4 in. long and the felt about 1/4 in. thick. The panel should be rubbed in one direction only. After the glossy surface is removed the panel should be wiped with an oily rag, and it will then have a beautiful satin finish.

Carl Schmieler and Dwight Stephens returned last night from a two weeks' motor trip. They traveled as far as Nebraska, stopping off at Sioux City, Iowa, where they visited with Dwight's sister, Mrs. Harold Soltsberg of that place. Their trip was a very interesting one and greatly enjoyed by the two motorists.

Protecting Currency

The sheets of paper on which bills are printed are delivered daily by the loans and currency division of the secretary of the treasury's office to the bureau, upon requisition. From the time the blank sheets are delivered by careful count until 30 days later when the bills are sent to the treasury to have the seal printed thereon, the bureau must account for every sheet in its hands.

The Contrary

He was an argumentative local attorney, and was crushing an opponent's case. "Gentlemen," he said, "you may say, with Lawyer Smith, that this is a case of six of one and half a dozen of the other. But I say, No—pause for emphasis—"No. It is nothing of the sort. It is exactly the contrary."

"Murder Tree"

In Brazil there grows a curious tree—the "clusia"—which natives know as the murder tree. It has aerial roots which reach out and strangle every nearby tree. Its seeds are deposited on branches of trees by birds, from where the roots grow toward the earth, enveloping everything within reach.

This means that the diamond has the highest degree of purity and fineness. When we say a diamond or other precious stone is of the first water it denotes that the gem is free from all traces of color, blemish, flaw or other imperfection, and that its brilliancy is perfect.

"Aladdin's Window"

CROWE TO CONCLUDE CASE FOR THE STATE SOME TIME TODAY

Criminal Court, Chicago, July 29.—Having constructed what is termed as the "friendly judge" case.

Attorney Crowe today buttressed his structure of evidence with the balance of the confession and other statements of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb at the judicial hearing for the slaying of Robert Franks.

These documents entered in the court record late yesterday will conclude the state's case, Crowe said. Crowe expected to finish up the case about noon today. In the court room it was rumored that chief attorney of defense, Clarence Darrow, is considering to change the plea of guilty to murder to one of not guilty, because of the introduction of the "friendly judge" testimony by a state witness. Leopold was quoted by this witness as stating that if he were brought before a friendly judge, he would get off with a light sentence.

Darrow laughed when asked if he intended to change the plea, and said: "I certainly have heard nothing about it."

Benjamin Davidson, assistant defense attorney, said:

"Nothing could be more absurd." Crowe insists that he will produce more evidence to substantiate the "friendly judge" testimony, and disapproved the statement it had been trucked up. Crowe had five detectives working on this phase of the case all night, and made it known that witnesses will take the stand in rebuttal to support the "friendly judge" story.

FEDERALS ARE RESTORING ORDER IN SAO PAULO

Rio De Janeiro, July 29.—Federal troops are rapidly restoring order in Sao Paulo today and normal conditions are being restored.

Gov. Carlos De Campos has returned and reassumed his position as chief of the state government. Martial law continues, however.

The main column of the rebel troops, which evacuated Sao Paulo city yesterday, appears to have escaped into the interior, although this is not confirmed by today's official communiques, which merely says:

"The revolutionary leaders, Jaco Francisco Dias Lopes, and Odillio Pacella, have escaped but the government has ordered their capture."

It is assumed here that the rebels are disbanding and fleeing toward the wild country of the interior of Matto Grosso.

There can be no doubt but that the rebellion is practically over and that the victory of the government of President Bernardes is complete. The rebels, after more than three weeks of bitter fighting, found their position hopeless when support they had expected from other parts of the country failed to materialize.

His Stroke of Luck

One of the best legal anecdotes on record is told by Sir Ernest Wild, K. C. A civil action was being heard in a certain court of justice, and counsel, having opened the case, called the plaintiff, whereupon a member of the jury rose, left the jury box, and made his way to the witness box. Asked what he was doing, he stated that he was the plaintiff. "Then what are you doing on the jury?" said the judge. "I was summoned to sit on the jury," said the man, producing the summons. "But surely," said the judge, "you know that you cannot help to try your own case?" "Well," said the baffled one ruefully, "I did think it was a bit of luck."

Turn of the Tide

On entering his club one evening a young Washingtonian was accosted by a friend, who exclaimed:

"Why, Dick, you are positively beaming! What's up?" "I am in the greatest luck imaginable," responded Dick. "You see, I have been attentive to a pretty Chevy Chase girl for more than a year. During all of that time she would never admit that she loved me; she would only say that she respected me. But now, old chap, congratulate me, for last night she confessed that she respected me no longer—that she loved me!"—Kansas City Star.

Lucky Brides

Three hundred years ago the owner of a castle in Norfolk, England, left £1,000, the interest of which was to be divided between the eldest and the youngest, the tallest and the shortest of the brides who were married during the year in the village belonging to the castle.

This original custom is still continued. After each wedding in the village the bride is measured by the clergyman, and at the end of the year the result is made known and the "record" brides receive the gifts.

Handshaking Old Idea

Even Homer, Aristophanes and Virgil mentioned the social custom of shaking hands. English-speaking races took it up vigorously apparently as none are more adept in that custom than British and Americans. Many others, like the French and Italians, have variations in their form of greeting which the English-speaking countries do not. At the confirmation of a bargain it appears in "H. Kings 10:15. It is nevertheless practically relegated to the Anglo-Saxon race today.

A LITTLE LESS OF CRUDE IN 1923 THAN IN 1922

Harrisburg, July 29.—Pennsylvania's nineteen crude oil counties in 1923 produced a total of 7,068,092 barrels of oil, or 2.3 per cent less than in 1922, according to figures made public today by Secretary of Internal Affairs James F. Woodward, following the completion of a survey of the fields made by the Bureau of Statistics and Information of the Pennsylvania Department of Internal Affairs. Secretary Woodward said that only Crawford, McKean, Mercer and Warren counties showed increased production, all of the others being under the 1922 output. McKean county was again the largest producer with a total of 2,490,696 barrels last year. Venango county was second with 1,304,206 barrels. The State's production in 1923 came from a total of 71,211 wells, or 4.4 per cent less in number than in 1922. Each of these wells produced an average of 99.3 barrels apiece or 2.3 per cent more than in the preceding year. In 1922 the average production per well was 1.2 per cent less than in 1921.

Records of the Department of Internal Affairs show that during last year 2,993 wells were brought in as compared with 2,938 in 1922. In 1923 there were 6,271 wells abandoned as compared with 2,21 in 1922.

CANADIAN MOUNTIES AT BRITISH EMPIRE EXHIBITION

With fifty years of glorious record to their credit, the Mounties of Canada, as the Royal Canadian Mounted Police are popularly termed, are still going strong. From a small organization of 300 men, who assembled in Winnipeg in 1870, for the "protection of settlers" and to maintain order, they grew by 1914 into a force of 10,000 men.

Then war depleted their ranks, but soon after demobilization they reorganized, accepting only the highest grade applicants. No trail to apprehend criminals is too long to daunt the Mounties, for their motto is "Get your Man!" and the far Arctic trails to their credit, testify to their loyalty and endurance. No social event in Canada is considered complete without the attendance of at least a squad of the Mounted Police. They were in evidence at many of the reception ceremonies of the Prince of Wales during his tour of Canada in 1919. The post at Regina, but on a show of superb horsemanship in the Prince's honor, while he, in turn, bestowed medals of honor on various members for distinguished war services. He was made an Honorary Colonel of the 1st Regiment and as he is also President of the British Empire Exhibition to be held in London this year from April 23rd to October, it is quite fitting that a detail of Royal Canadian Mounted Police should set as guard at the Canadian Government and Canadian Pacific buildings in the Overseas Dominion's section. This detail is under the command of Inspector C. H. Hill of Regina. He is of Australian birth, was educated in England, went to Canada in 1908, was twice wounded during the Great War, and is typical of the men taken into the service, being 6 feet 3 inches in his stocking feet. The other men are Sgt. R. J. Sampson, Corporal E. A. McBeth and Canadian P. Bass, H. C. Foster, E. H. Hobbie, D. L. McGibbon, R. E. Nelson, E. Pallette, and R. A. Tait, each representing a different province. They were born in Canada, England, and Australia.

WINS FOUR AMERICAN DERBIES, WILL HE RACE AGAINST EPINARD?

Mrs. R. M. Hoots, the owner, holding "Black Gold"—Mooney up—at Hawthorne track just after the great son of Black Toney—Useet had won the $17,000 Chicago Derby, his fourth Derby this season, bringing Black Gold's total earnings up to $39,790, for the year so far. Black Gold has won the Louisiana and Ohio Derbies as well as the great classic Kentucky Derby and the Hawthorne feature. It is believed possible that his season's earnings may be greater than were Zev's in 1923. He is a possible entry in the race against the French favorite Epinard.

Here's What You Need For Biliousness—
Sick Headache

ACTS OVERNIGHT

If women would only take a dose of a simple herbal remedy like Lebor Herb Tablets there would be no more complaining about sick headaches, bilious spells, backache or feeling weak, tired and languid all the time. Not only would you wake up feeling better, but you would also look better. Your eyes would be bright and your skin clear and attractive.

Stop taking Calomel, Salts, etc., and get a small box of Leboron Herb Tablets today. Take as directions advise. If, after taking them regularly, they do not make you feel one hundred per cent better in a week's time, you can have your money back. Your druggist or Wagner's Pharmacy can supply you.

TO TRY AND SOLVE MYSTERY OF DEATHS OF 14 YEARS AGO

Lancaster, Pa., July 29.—Twelve citizens—not jurors, but witnesses—today were to tell what they know of the death of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Dorsheimer, 14 years ago, for which two brothers must answer to a third brother who has brought charges of murder against them.

Benjamin and Chester Dorsheimer, the brothers who are held for the murder of their parents, were in conference today with their attorneys, the only persons admitted to their cells at the county jail here. William Tregay, of Lancaster, and former Lieut. Gov. E. E. Beidleman represent the defendants.

Constable Risser has subpoenaed the 12 witnesses who are to reveal the details of the unexplained crime which Frank Dorsheimer has fastened on his brothers. Hearing of the case was to be held before Justice of the Peace C. A. Diller, at Gap, near here, at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

The story of these witnesses was awaited with interest here. No one in Lancaster had suspected the death of the aged couple in 1910 as anything but an accident until the charges were brought Saturday against the two brothers. Many doubt the story of a crime which must be explained today or the brothers are to go to trial.

Frank Dorsheimer claims he has a case. Attorneys for the two brothers contend the facts must be presented at the hearing if they are to be tried for so serious a charge as murder. The fact that the case has gone so many years without prosecution was believed to be an advantage for the defendants.

VOLUNTEER WORKERS FOR HOSPITAL DRIVE

Commander Harry W. Scott of Division F, in charge of the mines, announced that John Brewer at the Warner mine, had been secured as captain to supplement the team captains of his division.

Commander J. F. He has a captain in each plant and will have more leaders under his supervision than any other commander.

Blackbirds Eat Trout; Cows Are Fed on Fish

Those who study Nature find that age-long traits and habits are being in some cases modified and in others entirely changed.

The writer knows of a case where a bird had its habits changed by altered conditions.

A trout fishery was established on an estate in Scotland. During certain seasons a large number of the fry or young trout are crowded together in shallow ponds, as their inclination is to keep together just where the water enters.

One day a blackbird, drinking at one of these ponds, got hold of a young trout, probably accidentally, but found it was excellent feeding. A blackbird does not by habit get its food from the water, but this particular one, having tapped a new source of food supply, returned to it again and again.

The following season this bird had by some means been able to impart its newly found knowledge to all the other blackbirds on the estate, and instead of one bird stealing the young fish, all the birds got into the way of doing so! The owner had either to shoot the blackbirds or give up trying to rear trout.

That an entire change of food is not detrimental may be proved by the fact that many of the cows kept in Norway are fed on fish, yet who will say that a cow's teeth were made for dealing with a diet of this sort? Philadelphia Inquirer

Ghost Gives Shampoo to Women Customers

The curious story of a ghost that occupied itself in shampooing customers in a Kensington hairdresser's shop is told by Mary L. Lewis in "The Queer Side of Things," recently published here, says a London correspondent of the New York World.

A woman who entered the shop in a busy hour was told she must wait until an assistant was free, the story goes. Very soon a tall girl with red hair and a velvet bow on her head came to the customer and set to work to shampoo her. The business over and the lady ready to put on her hat again, she turned around to ask the assistant for her bill, but to her surprise the girl had gone. Just then another attendant came in and said: "Now, madam, I am ready."

"But I have just been shampooed," returned the customer, as she looked at her hair showed, without doubt, that it had just been expertly washed. Whereupon the assistant had to give in, and at last, being pressed for explanation, owned that the same thing had happened to other customers.

There was no ordinary explanation, beyond the fact that a girl with red hair who used until lately to be employed there had committed suicide, and that it was possibly her unquiet spirit that still returned to the scene of her former occupation.

Crashing Courtship

Charles Crasheim caught Clarence Coldfeet courting Constance Coddle. Charles coughed clamorously, causing chaotic confusion. Constance's cheeks chalked Charles called conflict. Clarence cheerlessly consented. Combatants circled cautiously. Charles caught Clarence crushing cuffs. Clarence, colliding chair, collapsed convulsively. Cool, collected, Charles cast cowardly, cringing Clarence convenient closed chamber. Charles' countenance conveyed crustiness. Constance cried covily. Confided, convincingly, cause commotion. Capud cunningly captured Charles. Constance's consternation ceased. Consolated, continued Charles' captivation. Charles capitulated. Catastrophe collapsed. Conclusion: Charles, church, cottage containing contented couple—London Tit-Bits.

Interpreting Knowledge

Matthew Arnold wrote: "The great men of culture are those who have had a passion for diffusing, for making prevail, for carrying from one end of society to the other, the best knowledge, the best ideas of their time; who have labored to divest knowledge of all that was harsh, unlovely, difficult, abstract, professional, exclusive; to humanize it, to make it efficient outside the cage of the cultivated and learned, yet still retaining the best knowledge and thought of the time, and a true source, therefore, of sweetness and light."
